J. B. COCHRAN,

What should kennergy to ?—The preservation of the Union is the first and gravest duty devolving upon her. From position, she can effect this better than any other State. She has the respect of the whole nation. She has always been firm and moderate in council. Any plan saggested, having anything like a probability of success, she should strenouously advocate, throwing all her weight for peace. For this reason, all movements leaning towards either esection more than her ownered. Absurd and improbable propositions, or those savvoring of unfairness, she should be careful, in an ultimatum that that southers the country can anticipate any of the uniform of the work of the uniform of the uniform of the work of the uniform of the work of the uniform of the uniform of the work of the uniform of the work of the uniform of the un which shall demand an ultimatum that that the mander. be upheld; if not, let the right only he conceded. The Union was formed by concess.

The Union was formed by concessions, some of them, ecemingly, very injust. It seems hard that Kentucky or Virginia should have no more weight in the Senate than Rhode Island or South Carolina, with about one-fourth or fifth of the population. In justice to ue, perhaps those States should be annexed to the territory of the State all-joining. If South Carolina was a part of North Carolina was a part of North Carolina was a part of North Carolina, the constryy would now be at the page. He did not regard the personal lib-ty bills of any practical value, only as errodject could be to insult the Southern stes. He referred to the decision of Gov-nor Dennison, and said he had done en-ely wrong, and now, when the Senator om Krinticky came forward with a fair to of partition, we have not heard one ice in favor of it from the Republican side. MONEY MARKET BY TELEGRAPH. Unclanati, December 17, p. m. Exchange on New York dull at 114 Fe premi.

Why could not genilemen come forward and meet it tairly? There could be no objections to the proposition of the Senator from Kentucky, except to earry on intestine strite. He did not design to offend the Senators of that parly, but to show the vast responsibility resting on them. They have the power. All opposing parties are shattered this colleague said that the day of the Union had passed of the Union was founded on compromise. His colleague complains of the weakness of past compromises. Then, let us put this where it cannot be broken—into the Constitution of the Union was tounded in the constitution of the former would unite on the basis of the resolutions of Mr. Crittenden.
